RE: Organizational Merger to the Institute of Micropatriological Research

For the information of the press...

On this day, the 29th day of October, 2026 the Board of Directors, with certification by Chairman, Josh Ford passed a motion to resolve primary control over the organization and transfer its assets, branding, and all historical data to the Institute of Micropatriological Research (IMR). The Intermicronational Census & Survey Bureau shall now be classified as a subsidiary of the IMR until further reorganization or dissolution.

The ICSB was plagued by inactivity from the start, a vast problem, and the usually ultimate death of the majority of intermicronational organizations, or "YAMOs". It is worth noting the work that was done to construct a fundamental organization was significant, and the few censuses and surveys conducted provided value to nations and communities it contributed to.

The Board of Directors would like to cordially thank all the individuals who contributed time and resources to the cause of the organization, and to the organizations and nations who allowed us to help advance the study of micropatriology in the little way it did.

All further requests of information, or contacts may be directed to Zabëlle Skye of the Institute of Micropatriological Research.

Am Martin
Secretary-General, ICSB
